Get Your Business

When you consider the best practices of the world's leading retailers, you'll find their success stems from inventory. In fact, Mary Kay Ash often said that you can't sell from an empty wagon. Try thinking of yourself as the owner of a beauty boutique. If your customer runs out of her foundation or loses her favorite shade of lipstick, will she wait several days for you to replace it, or will she go to the corner drugstore or local department store to get it right away? With this perspective, you can see how having products on hand can keep your customers' business with you. Consider talking to your Independent Sales Director about the best inventory choice for you. And grow your business "thinking like a retailer."

Here are a few reasons you may choose to have inventory:

- It's a great way to immediately satisfy your customers' wants and needs for products, making them more likely to keep their business with you.
- You can receive a free bonus of top-selling products based on the inventory amount you choose.
- You can even get the Travel Roll-Up Bag free. It's designed to hold the popular product sets you sell.
- You can receive well-deserved recognition and prizes for your commitment to success.
